WALL POSTER · TWO-STEP SIGN-IN

Didn't ask for it? Don't approve it.

A sign-in prompt you didn't start means someone else has your password.

1. Only approve what you started.
   If you aren't signing in this second, the answer is always Deny.

2. Keep getting prompts? That's an attack.
   Scammers send prompt after prompt, hoping you'll tap Approve to make them stop.

3. Never read a code to anyone.
   Not to a caller from "IT", "the bank" or "tech support". Real support never asks.

4. Match the number.
   If the app asks for a number, it must match the screen in front of you. No screen, no approval.

5. Tell IT right away.
   They can change your password and sign the stranger out. It takes minutes.

Why two-step sign-in works

A stolen password alone isn't enough to get in. Your tap is the last lock on the door, so keep it locked.
